

sustainable insulation®

Introducing CertainTeed's new Sustainable Insulation.®

It has exceptional handling as well as excellent rigidity, recovery and cutability — allowing you to be more efficient on the jobsite. Made with renewable and recycled content, Sustainable Insulation is not only easier on you, it's easier on the environment too. So get the insulation you can really love to work with.

Help build an environment of change®

Superior performance.

Get the performance and comfort you want for a more pleasant and productive work environment. What's more, you'll get consistent quality every time.

Easy to handle.

Excellent rigidity, recovery and cutability — it allows you to be more efficient on the jobsite. And because Sustainable Insulation is such a breeze to install, your productivity skyrockets.

Improved features.

Less dust. Softer feel. Improved smell. Our consistent tan colored product uses a proprietary, organic plant-based binder that has no formaldehyde, harsh acrylics, dyes or unnecessary fire retardant chemicals added, so your job is easier to work with.

Green footprint.

Energy reduction and zero waste commitment in our plants. Renewable materials. Reduced transportation thanks to compressed packaging. Organic, plant-based binders. All this adds to CertainTeed's truly green story — one you can proudly pass on to your customers.

Help Build an Environment of Change.®

For more than 100 years, CertainTeed has been the North American leader of Building Responsibly.™ Our commitment to providing quality, environmentally responsible products is grounded in a solid foundation of Building Science. It's a whole-house and whole-building guide that helps us make sure they're performing at their best.

So whether it's a product that allows you to be more efficient on the jobsite or one with superior durability, top performance by CertainTeed is something you can count on no matter what.

Green Stewardship.

CertainTeed was named an ENERGY STAR® Partner of the Year in 2009 and 2010 and received an ENERGY STAR Sustained Excellence Award in 2011 – recognition of the success of our ongoing efforts to improve the environmental performance of the company. CertainTeed is also an ENERGY STAR insulation manufacturing partner, a member of the U.S. and Canadian Green Building Councils (USGBC and CaGBC), and a National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) member company. All Sustainable Insulation products can help building professionals qualify toward credits for both the Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) through the USGBC and the NAHB's Green Building Program. Sustainable Insulation is GREENGUARD® Children & Schools Certified and many CertainTeed Insulation plants are ISO 14001:2004 certified.
